The first edition of the new Medford High School yearbook, the 1971 Blue and White, opens its record of events and personalities with a pictorial essay of the architectural complex which a most generous citizenry has bestowed on us. Our class, unique in its own way and yet still bound by traditions which will always unite the past with the present, is proud to have the distinction of being the first graduating class of the new Medford High School. We would be remiss in our responsibilities to begin our account in any other manner.

As the natural terrain was reshaped by dirt, concrete, and earth-moving machines . . .

A man-made beauty evolved that rivalled its own natural order . . .

A world of coherence and order that even nature could envy was excitedly emerging . . .

this brick and mortar will allow for as deep a breath of educational inquiry and opportunity as we could ever desire . . .*

Superintendent

Class of 1971

Two years on double sessions and the first class to graduate in a newly-opened, partially-completed high school is quite an adventure to remember. You have conducted yourselves well under the circumstances and I congratulate you for it. As we get "on track" in our new school, I hope you will return to make use of this new facility. My best wishes to you in the future!

CLASS ADVISORS

Transition is difficult; the class of 1971, more than any previous class, has been taught this lesson. The move from the fire-ravaged high school to our new building has produced, along with renewed school spirit, unavoidable confusion. To our great fortune, class advisors Mrs. Reutlinger and Mr. Sammon have remained firmly by our side during our struggle to re-establish ourselves.

Our high school years had their beginning in the trying experience of double sessions; our advisors were there even though we did not even know one another yet. But sophomores become juniors, and by that time we were friends. With their aid, we made decisions and began to pursue actively our goals. Senior year came and in the turmoil of change we nearly lost ourselves. But again, as in the past, we found that Mrs. Reutlinger and Mr. Sammon were there to support us.

We have now passed successfully through these difficult years. More changes are in store for us; but because of the direction we have received, we feel certain that we have learned to handle change. We look confidently ahead. For this and for all you have done for us, Mrs. Reutlinger and Mr. Sammon, we extend to you our sincere thanks.

DEDICATION

The Class of 1971 dedicates our yearbook with heartfelt pleasure to Mr. John Hardy. Mr. Hardy, epitomizes the true educator; he is understanding, respected, and just. A truly interested and interesting teacher he is held in high regard by both faculty and students.

A graduate of Medford High School, Mr. Hardy continued his education at Harvard University where he received his bachelors degree. Accepting a position as Assistant Principal of the Lesley-Ellis School in Cambridge (affiliated with Lesley College) he proceeded to establish a place in the educational community. Aside from his administrative duties, Mr. Hardy taught fifth grade and participated in a sports program for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

In 1958, after receiving his Master's Degree in Education from Boston University Mr. Hardy returned to Medford High School. Again he exhibited an eagerness for his profession; beyond the requirements of his assigned classes, Mr. Hardy has been advisor to the National Honor Society, the Harvard Intern Program, and is presently serving as advisor to the U.S. History Seminar. He has taught United States History, World History, Problems of Democracy, and helped institute a course of study in philosophy at Medford High School.

Not only is he an outstanding member of Medford's High School faculty, but Mr. Hardy is active in the community. His diversified interests range from cancer and heart fund collections to membership of the Harvard Club of Boston. He also belongs to Medford, Massachusetts, and National Teachers' Associations. Mr. Hardy is also an active member of the Air Force Reserve in which he holds the rank of Captain.

A truly distinguished and responsible man, the Class of 1971 is proud to dedicate our yearbook to Mr. John Hardy.

Invocation by Rabbi Samuel Klein

Address by Mayor
JOHN J. McGLYNN

Benediction by Rt. Rev.
Anthony J. Flaherty

"Bless this school, O Lord, we pray.
Keep it safe each night and day.
Bless these walls so firm and stout.
Keep all want and evil out.
Bless the students (and teachers) who come herein.
Keep them strong and free from sin.
Bless us all that one day we
May, at home, in Heaven, be.
Students, teachers — even the Mayor,
And thus we end our little prayer.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Primarily, the M.H.S. Student Council is the "voice" of the student body and acts as a liason between the students and the administration. It is specifically concerned with school policy and problems. Thirty-two members compose the council: six from each class, and the four officers elected from the student body.

The 1970-71 Student Council was one of the most active and the most productive council in the history of Medford High. They have worked closely with the faculty and the administration in instituting an open-study program for the school. Also, a student handbook is being published and will contain descriptions of clubs and organizations, school facilities, rules, and regulations, etc. The council has also worked with the Afro-American Society in trying to alleviate some of the racial tension in the school. The M.H.S. Student Council is very dedicated to alleviating the problems at Medford High.

I salute you, the Class of 1971!

You, the members of this Graduating Class, are to be especially commended for your cooperation and dedication to all those good principles of life which obviously motivated each to realize eligibility for high school diploma certification. Your determination under the guidance and supervision of your parents and teachers alike has been inspirational as, step by step, through these past few years, you have met all obstacles, many of which were not of your making, to earn the right to graduate from Medford High School.

Perhaps you have learned more than your predecessors, again probably because of adverse conditions over which you had neither control nor responsibility.

At least you have experienced study in the old Medford High School as well as study in the new Medford High School. I suggest that there is much to learn, if you have not already done so, in this transition. As the first Class to graduate from the new Medford High School, you can recall most vividly many of the advantages as well as disadvantages of the old Medford High School, and you can judge also the many advantages of a new Medford High School as well as some disadvantages of your experience this past year, in the opening of the new facilities. You, therefore, have probably missed many of the advantages of the old Medford High School that were not incorporated into the new Medford High School. You are also probably more aware than any of your junior peers of the many advantages of the new Medford High School that were not, obviously, incorporated into the old Medford High School.

What I am suggesting is that there is much of the old that is always good and should be valued for what it is and not just because it is old. There is also much which is good about the new, and values should be equated for that which is new that is good. Simply, then, there is no real gap between the old and the new, whether it be in physical facilities or in moral standards and philosophy. The continuity is here as it has always been since the dawn of civilization.

As you leave Medford High School, you will sometimes be confused by a myriad of horizons, but there is only one real goal and that is to succeed in life in keeping with your talents and abilities and in contributions from yourself to others in social service so that, once you have attained your goal, you may reflect with the genuine satisfaction that comes with later age and retirement.

There is much to be done, and you, the young, will be responsible for what has to be done and what changes must be made in order that, one day, your children and your grandchildren will live in a better world than you fell heir to. We, your elders, have held to that same theme and that is why your early life has abounded in many more advantages than what we, your elders, inherited. To each of you I wish good health, happiness, and a smidgen of the luck that sometimes determines a life direction for most of us.

William A. McCormack, Headmaster

CHEERLEADERS

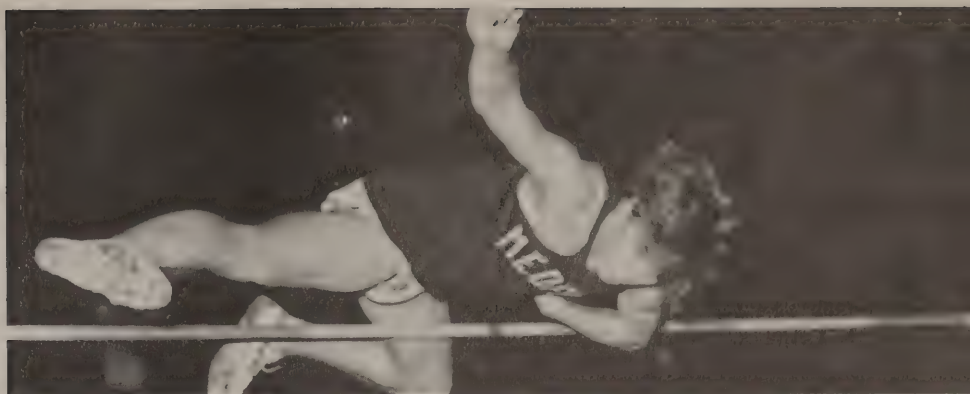

A singular accomplishment is to be one of the fourteen girls who represent Medford High School as its cheerleaders. In the spring prior to their senior year they must practice for tryouts three times a week. Their presence is required at all Mustang varsity contests. Weekly practices are mandatory. They have the responsibility of teaching the cheers and routines to the junior aspirants who will succeed them next year. Enjoyable, exciting, truly demanding — the senior year for a M.H.S. cheerleader.

MUSTANGS 1970

After weeks of intensive preparation under new coach Armand Caraviello, a young, inexperienced yet hopeful squad took the field at White Stadium in Boston and came up short against a strong Boston Latin eleven. A home opening loss to Chelsea followed.

The Mustangs came up a winner in their next contest against Somerville, 20 to 7. The Mustangs showed some offensive muscle, featured by two long touchdown passes from Cuniff to Faucette. Continued success was denied, however, as losses followed to North Quincy, Everett, and very strong Newton. Hopes brightened again as the team's strongest effort of the year demolished Revere 27 to 7.

Journeying to Quincy, the Mustangs displayed tremendous character by holding the eventual Class A Champs to a tie score for three periods, finally bowing in the last ten minutes. Facing the ultimate test on Thanksgiving morning, the Mustangs gave it everything only to be denied 26 to 6.

Inexperience, injuries to key personnel, a new coaching staff, lack of luck — all of these and more were key factors in what was a less than fruitful season. But enthusiasm, dedication, and sincerity were compensations for which the 1970 Mustangs can take pride and for which they are fondly remembered, especially those 14 Seniors.

CROSS COUNTRY

Despite its season-ending loss to Malden, the harriers, under new coach Joseph Orpen, concluded a most successful season with a G.B.L. record of 6 wins and 1 loss. Captained by Frank Pilleri and paced by the performance of junior Allie McCormack, this team presented a formidable array of running talent. Coming so close to an undefeated record, the team qualified seven of its members for the State Tryouts; with a large number of underclassmen returning, X-country prospects for the following year were never brighter.

SOCCER

Combating unprecedented injuries, inexperience, and bad breaks the Mustangs had to extend themselves completely to finish with an excellent record of 5 wins and 7 losses. The Blue and White were indeed "community's children," as evidenced by the closeness of the scores, some marked in their losing efforts.

Highlights of the season: a 2 to 1 win in the opener over Cambridge; a 3 to 1 victory by Jorge Abecassis; a revenge season-ending victory over Brockton, 7-2. Despite only the second losing season in their 10-year history, the Mustang boosters were excellent representatives of VHS on the field of competition.

BASKETBALL

Paced by the leadership and prolific scoring of Captain Tom Ryser and quick-moving, high-scoring Jordan Carter, the Mustangs achieved their third successive winning season under Coach Don Tremblay. Denied a third consecutive bid to the Tech Tournament, this team still proved to be a very formidable adversary to their G.B.L. opponents. With inexperience and an abundance of underclassmen playing key problems, the Mustangs actually had to survive several "learning experiences" throughout the season; that they did so successfully speaks well of their preparation and their purposefulness. Certainly great expectations for next season are inherent in this year's results.

Highlights of the season: a double victory over arch rivals Malden and Everett; a big upset win over North Quincy in the Boston Garden; the one point overtime win over Quincy; the 23 point average, good for second place league scoring honors, of Tom Ryser; the steady improvement of John Woods; the quick moves and scoring outbursts of Jordan Carter; the gradual emergence of poise on the part of the underclassmen.

HOCKEY

As the Blue and White goes to press, the Mustangs are preparing for a first round game in the State Tournament against Brighton High. The team is tourney-bound on the basis of its 14-5-1 record and a second place finish in the G.B.L. Although Medford had first place within its grasp, that elusive number one spot was not attained. A stubborn Revere club beat the Mustangs twice, while Quincy, Malden, and Everett got in their licks to blemish Medford's record. Overall it was a rewarding season. Under the coaching of George Boudreau and William Mahoney, it marked the fourth straight winning and tournament-qualifying season for the Mustangs.

There was plenty of action all season long from this well balanced team. Led by Co-Capt. Steve DeVoe (20 pts.), Co-Capt. Paul Quinn (19), and Ed Hanlon (18), Medford proved an offensive threat in each game. Defensively the Mustangs limited its opponents to 22 goals in 20 games, the top defensive mark in the league. Looking to next year, Medford should be in good shape with an abundance of experienced lettermen returning.

INDOOR TRACK

With a record of five wins and two losses, the Mustangs finished in a tie for second place in the North Shore Indoor Track League. Co-Captains Peter Sabia and John White provided leadership and consistent scoring to their team's success. Other major point contributors were Kellegrew, Cuniff, McCauley, Daly, and Salvo. A major highlight of the season was Sabia's 45 yard high hurdle championship in the State Meet.

Row 3: Renee Hollywood, Joyce Aurilio, Vicki Sparks, Kathy Whelan, Andrea Whelan, Carol Williams, Janice McKeown, Coach Julie Doherty.

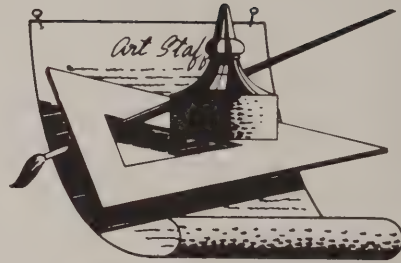

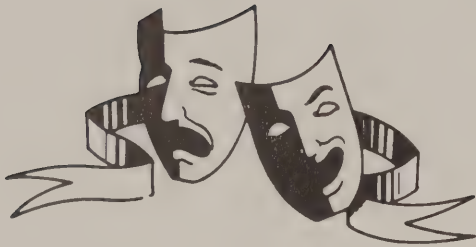

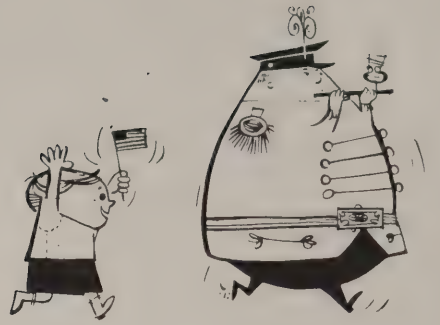

For the first time in many years, Medford High School has been represented on the interscholastic athletic scale by a girls' team. And the team of 1971 was an excellent representative with which to debut. With the capable coaching of Miss Julie Doherty and the fine leadership of Jeanette Flu and Maureen Leahy, the team compiled a record of 3 wins and 3 losses, with only five points separating the girls from an undefeated season. Major contributions were the ball handling of Donna Blasko and the rebounding of Shirley Brown, Kitty Orlebar, Kathie Whelan, and Andrea Williams.

Congratulations to all for a most significant contribution to the M.H.S. varsity athletic program.

The 1971 Blue and White staff has expended every effort in its efforts to give the class a worthy compilation of the activities of the students at Medford High School. The introduction of color, a larger college-sized edition, a pictorial essay on our new complex, a radical departure in its cover, a completely different approach to the faculty section, a biographical index, a personalized capsule on each member of the class — all these and more represent many hours both in and out of school preparing this book for you. We hope you enjoy it. Special commendations go to assistant editors Kathy Evans and Kathy Sailor without whose special dedication this book would have been an impossibility.

POM POM GIRLS

The Pom Pom Girls are now seasoned performers on the sports scene at Medford High School. Since their inception five years ago, they have added color and individuality to the football games at half-time with their original routines, which the girls compose themselves. To provide school spirit and enthusiasm, they also attend cross-country meets and hockey games. They were successful in cheering both of these teams on to victorious seasons this year.

Meet the Press! Medford High School's student publication, the MUSTANG NEWS ranks high among the leading school newspapers. It has received a first place rating award from New England Press Association for outstanding journalism achievements, as well as special recommendations and honors for its excellent coverage of the holocaust which hit the old MHS some six years ago.

Editors have appeared on a discussion panel at Boston University reviewing "hot issue" reporting. An annual sports edition jam packed with action photos and a winter edition highlighting on the special problems MHS is undergoing are a few publication highlights. The student reporters also redecorated the Mustang News office with extra time and money.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club is an all male organization which is nationally recognized and dedicated to developing programs serving both the school and the community. The main efforts of the 1970-1971 Key Club were geared to helping Medford's mentally retarded children. The Key Club organized and instituted a physical education and swim program which was held every Saturday morning for these exceptional children. They have also acted as leaders and supervisors at pack meetings for Medford's mentally retarded Cub Scout troop.

The Key Club was also quite active in other areas. They helped the Red Cross successfully run a bloodmobile in Medford; they set up a career guidance program for MHS students; and in the eyes of its members, had the best street hockey team in the school.

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama Club decided that this was the year to produce a full scale musical comedy. The play chosen was "Guys and Dolls" — a most successful Broadway vehicle.

A production of this scope involves close to one hundred students in all areas, including acting and the many related responsibilities necessary for this type of activity.

A new Little Theatre, reputed to be one of the best in the country, insured the best of facilities and augured well for the years to come. The dates of the production were April 1, 2, and 3.

Advisor: Roy Belson

The Future Teachers Club at M.H.S., for the past twenty years has been the basis of a long and enduring organization which has produced hundreds of teachers who have honored the profession.

There are many duties of the club which include observing classes, taking attendance, recording grades and tutoring students. Other schools have been visited by members for the purpose of getting a better perspective of what is taking place in education in these other schools. Hopefully, some of us will join the ranks of the teaching profession.

PEOPLE AGAINST POLLUTION

In its first year as a club, the P.A.P. has drawn up a constitution and is seeking "official" club recognition. It has attended meetings of the Wellington Improvement Association concerning the rodent problem in that area. It has canvassed the Brooks Pond area for signatures to present to the City Council relative to the clean-up of the pond; along with members of the council and residents of the area, it is a member of the official committee to clean up Brooks Pond. The club has also distributed phosphate level charts to the residents of Medford through their elementary school children. During the spring vacation, a major project was undertaken to photograph many polluted areas of the city in an effort to promote awareness and action on the part of the citizenry.
